Changes to Your Practice

Members are reminded that when there is a change in your practice - including moving from solo practice to a firm/employer, changing firms/employers, or becoming a sole practitioner - you are required to notify the Law Society by submitting Form 2.20A.

Timely updates help ensure that member records are current and that the Lawyer Directory is accurate - the latter is especially important because information that is not up to date means that clients and others may have trouble contacting you. We encourage all members to review their information regularly and to submit the required form promptly if there is any change to your practice information.

Forms and additional information are available on our website here.

CLIA Not So Risky Business Blog

The Canadian Lawyers Insurance Association \(CLIA\) Not So Risky Business Blog aims to assist legal professionals in practice management, error avoidance, and gaining a deeper insight into insurance coverage requirements. Every Wednesday, CLIA's blog will cover informative topics such as loss prevention tips, fraud alerts, cyber awareness, wellness, and more. You can also subscribe to receive notifications of new posts directly to your inbox.

National AccessAbility Week: 31 May - 6 June

National AccessAbility Week (NAAW) is an opportunity to celebrate the contributions of people with disabilities and promote efforts to increase accessibility and inclusion in our communities and workplaces across Canada. Accessibility is a human right. Everyone should be able to participate in our society, barrier-free.

The Law Society of Newfoundland and Labrador recognizes that accessibility requires a proactive approach. We are committed to the principle of accessibility, and work to identify, remove, and prevent barriers to inclusion. For more information on AccessAbility Week, please click here.

Invitation to Participate in a National Study on Family Violence and Family Law Practice

Family law professionals across Canada are invited to participate in a national research study led by a research group at the University of Toronto exploring experiences and training needs related to family violence in family law cases. Members are invited to share their perspectives by completing a confidential 25-minute survey.

Insights from this initiative will help inform future training, workplace supports, and responses for families affected by family violence.

For more information or to participate, please click here.

Our practice resources offer valuable insights regarding the complexities of law practice management. Created to help lawyers navigate the requirements and obligations outlined in the Law Society Act, 1999, Law Society Rules, and Code of Professional Conduct, they serve as supportive tools. While not exhaustive, they provide valuable insights.

Please remember that every practice management question should be considered within your unique context, and professional judgment is very important.
